WEEKLY NEWS

Sunday 14th May 2023
(Sixth Sunday of Easter)

WELCOME

Welcome to this week's edition of your Weekly News. We need a big push on getting people to buy tickets for the Variety Show on 27th May. This is going to be an excellent evening and well worth the effort to attend. Even I'm staying up past my bedtime to be there. Encourage your friends and neighbours to come along. Have a good week.

PRAYERS FOR THIS WEEK

Collect:

God our redeemer, you have delivered us from the power of darkness and brought us into the kingdom of your Son: grant, that as by his death he has recalled us to life, so by his continual presence in us he may raise us to eternal joy; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen.

A Prayer for the week ahead for our Parish and Ourselves.

Loving Lord, we pray for your body on earth in the week ahead of us, we pray for all who believe in Jesus. We pray for the Church in our own Parish and around the world. We ask you to fill us with your love: love in our thinking, love in our speaking and love in our doing. Love for those we find difficult to get on with; love for those who find us difficult. Love of those with whom we work and love of those with whom we relax. Love of those whom others might consider are unlovely or unlovable. So, may we find ourselves giving of ourselves in love as you give yourself to us. And, Lord, we thank you once again for loving us to death and beyond. Lord of love Hear our prayer.

A Prayer for a new Incumbent.

Please pray for someone to see the advert in the Church Times for a new Priest for our Parish and feel called to come and serve you lovely people.

Encouraging Words.

"And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, who have been called according to his purpose." (Romans 8: 28)

GOD SLOT

‘In a little while you will no longer see me’ Jesus told his disciples. This was before his death and subsequent resurrection. He was trying to prepare them for what was to come. In essence he was telling them that he was going to die and would be leaving them. They were going to feel dreadful but, he promised, there would be hope for the future. We recall that it was for just two days after his crucifixion that they did not see him. But, as he was dead and sealed in a tomb, they never expected to see him again. And they had been devastated - bereft, desolate, being orphaned would have been an apt description. But then they had seen him, unbelievably, alive; but they had come to believe. Jesus had overcome suffering and death with new life and from time to time from then on was physically present with them. Yes, his was a different sort of physicality. His body could get through closed doors and yet could still speak and eat and bear the scars of suffering. But that physical presence of the resurrected Jesus would come to an end. He tried to prepare them for the fact that he would leave this earth. We remember his return to heaven next Thursday when we celebrate Ascension Day, just 40 days after Easter Day. After Jesus’ resurrection, those disciples must have spent many hours recalling what he had said to them, especially those words spoken just before his death. How were they to cope when he left them? What were they to do? He promised that the Holy Spirit would be with them. Those disciples would need all the help, strength and advice that the Holy Spirit could give them in order to be the physical body of Jesus when he left this earth. And you know what folks? We are Jesus’ disciples today – Jesus’ body on earth. And that same Holy Spirit is at work in us; to fill us more and more with the life and love of Jesus as we let him help us, to give us strength, to advise us and to draw us into even deeper relationship with God in prayer. As Teresa of Avila wrote in the 1500s, Christ has no body on earth now but ours! That’s YOU and me.

God Bless,
Revd Ken

JOKE SPOT

Little Johnny went into a coffee shop and sat down next to a table with three old ladies, sitting and bragging about their sons. “My Freddie,” said one, “Everyone should be so lucky to have a son like my Freddie. Once a week he brings me a huge bouquet of flowers, he’s constantly bringing me out to restaurants to eat, if I so much as hint that I want something the next morning it’s on my doorstep.” “That’s very nice about your Freddie”, says the second old lady. “But with all due respect, when I think about the way my Sammy takes care of me, it just can’t compare. Every morning as soon as I wake up he greets me with bacon and freshly brewed coffee. Every lunch he comes over and cooks me a gourmet lunch, and every supper he brings me to his house for supper, he truly treats me like a queen.” “WELL!” Says the third, “I don’t want to make any of you feel bad or anything, but wait until you hear about my Harry; twice a week he pays someone €200 an hour just so he can lie on their couch and talk to them, and who do you think he speaks about at those prices? Asks the third lady with a big excited double chin smile, “I’ll tell you who he speaks about! ALL HE SPEAKS ABOUT IS ME!”

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

“Happiness is an inside job. Don’t assign anyone else that much power over your life.” (Mandy Hale)

Let Go

"Let go," He says. "Let go."
But my heart is stubborn, so I do not let go.
"What if it hurts?" I say.
"I know it will hurt," He says.
"What if I fall?" I say louder.
"I know you will fall," He says.
"But what if I can't get up?
What if I can't go on?
What if my heart breaks into a thousand pieces?"
"It's all right; just let go."
"No. I can't. I want to, but I can't."
"Let go."
"How? My heart will break. It is breaking already."
"So it will break. Let go."
"I can't. It hurts."
"Don't you know, my child?
If you fall, I will pick you up.
If you can't go on, I will carry you.
Don't you know, my child? Don't you know?
It is when it breaks that I can make you whole again.
It is when it breaks that I can pick out these broken pieces that are hurting you.
It is when it breaks that you can truly learn to love.
You can rise again.
You will rise again.
Let go."
